Multiple Religious Modernities
Deadline for submissions of abstracts (individual paper or panel proposals): 31 May, 2012

At the local and global level, religion is changed through social processes, but religion also impacts on societies at the structural and grass roots levels. As modernity and (de)secularisation are multilateral processes, the conference explores the multiple types of (de)centralisation, pluralism and voluntarism of religious life.

First Call for Individual or Panel Presentations
• Individual paper proposals (200-300 words)
• Panel proposals (200 word for the panel concept and 200-300 words on each panel paper).
• For each paper, please provide a bio (up to 50 words) of the presenter(s).
• Please submit your abstract to Alan Nixon at: A.Nixon@uws.edu.au

Local Organising Committee
Julia Howell
Alpha Possamai-Inesedy
Adam Possamai
Judith Snodgrass
Irena Veljanova

Programme Committee
Carole Cusack, University of Sydney
Jamila Hussein, University of Technology, Sydney.
Jay Johnston, University of Sydney and University of New South Wales
Paul Oslington, Australian Catholic University.
Adam Possamai, University of Western Sydney
Malcolm Voyce, Macquarie University

The event is hosted by the Centre for the Study of Contemporary Muslim Societies, the School of Social Sciences and Psychology and the School of Humanities and Communication Arts. Your assistance in distributing this information to other interested parties will be appreciated.