

WESTERN SYDNEY UNIVERSITY

GENDER EQUALITY STRATEGY

Strategic Context

The Western 2015-2020 Strategy vision is dependent on the performance, dedication, professionalism innovation and capabilities of staff.

The Gender Equality Strategy aligns with Goal 6 of the University Strategic Plan which is a commitment to a dynamic and innovative culture. Fostering a culture of inclusion and diversity is crucial to achieving this goal. In today's competitive global environment the most successful universities will be those that fully utilise the talents and capabilities of all staff.

The benefits of diversity and inclusion are well documented with research citing improved productivity, innovation and creativity in those organisations that recognise and harness their diversity as an asset. Furthermore, organizations which have a higher proportion of women at board and top management level are the organisations that perform the best¹. Western recognises that building social inclusion leads to improved student outcomes and greater innovations in learning, teaching and research.

Western has been a leading Employer of Choice for Gender Equality for over a decade. The University has one of the highest levels of women in senior leadership positions and a long standing reputation for fairness and equity in the workplace. This marks out the university as a national benchmark for best practice.

However, while the University has made great progress in creating a fair, flexible and equitable workplace, our current workforce data indicates that we continue, like many institutions around the world, to under-utilise the talents of women particularly at senior levels and in the STEM disciplines. and there is a significant gender pay equity gap due to the under representation of women in these areas. There is also a gender pay gap because of occupational segregation, i.e. the large numbers of female professional staff employed at the HEW 5 and 6 levels.

To secure the Western vision, to attract and retain the best possible staff, to continue to be a leading Employer of Choice for Gender Equality the University will endeavour to promote and embed an organisational culture in which female staff participate equally at all levels. This will require us to challenge those beliefs and attitudes, the unconscious biases that undermine our progress towards gender equality.

The leadership team at Western is committed to gender equality and the Senior Executive and Board of Trustees will lead the gender equity debate by example.

A Vice Chancellor's Gender Equality Committee has been established to oversee the implementation of the Gender Equality Strategy. This Committee will monitor and report on the progress of implementation to the Executive Committee and provide an annual report to all university staff.

Strategy Framework

The Western Gender Equality Strategy 2015-2020 provides a framework to assist the university to develop and implement effective strategies around workplace culture, leadership and employment practices to improve gender equality across the whole organisation.

What we want to achieve

Securing success by:

- Being a role model for educating the next generation of students, academic, educators, researchers and whole community
- Attracting and retaining the best talent possible
- Utilising the skills and talents of all staff, contributing to excellence in research, teaching, administration
- Being innovative, agile and flexible
- Being a leading gender equality organisation

The priority focus areas for the strategy are

- An organisational culture and a working environment that is inclusive and fair to both women and men
- Improving the Representation of women in leadership and management positions with a focus on the STEMM (Science, Technology, Engineering, Mathematics and Medicine) Disciplines
- Reducing Gender pay equity gaps
- Building a flexible workplace which enables staff to balance work and life responsibilities

GOAL 1:

An organisational culture and a working environment that is inclusive and fair to both women and men

Aligned with the University's commitment to a dynamic and innovative culture that secures success, the University will be a leading advocate for gender equality, promoting the benefits of an inclusive culture in all aspects of the University's operations.

The Vice Chancellor, Executive and Senior Management team will champion social inclusion and gender equality by articulating a clear consistent business case and rationale for gender diversity, explaining the alignment with the broader vision and strategy of the university and building a heightened awareness of gender equality in decision making.

To Develop an organisational culture and a working environment that is inclusive and fair to both women and men the University will:-
