Message from the Dean
School of Law

The mission of the UWS School of Law is to be a law school that excels in education and research, and values its students and staff. In the spirit of intellectual freedom, we critically and ethically engage with the law and the issues of our time. We are actively committed to socially just and professional practice, and we support and challenge our graduates to serve their communities with the same commitment.

Congratulations to all our prize winners for your hard work and dedication to your legal education. You have set a very high standard and are a credit to the School of Law.

We also wish to thank our donors for your generous support and interest in the success of our students.

We wish our law students all the best in their future careers.

ATO Prize

Criteria  This prize is awarded to the most outstanding student in (200187) Taxation Law.

Donor  Australian Taxation Office

The Australian Taxation Office (ATO) is the Australian Government’s main revenue collection agency. The ATO manages and shapes the revenue systems that sustain social and economic policy and fund services for Australians.

We are one of the largest public service employers in Australia with over 22,000 staff located in offices in the capital cities and major regional centres.

Our involvement in the University prize program is an example of the ATO’s support for professional capability in areas of taxation-related study.

We employ a large number of university graduates each year in our comprehensive Graduate Development Program which draws on a wide range of disciplines. These include accounting, business, communications and IT.

As an employer of choice, our staff have access to a range of educational and development opportunities and the opportunities to have a full and varied career.

Recipient  Joseph Murphy
Bartier Perry Prize

NSW Bar Association Award

Donor       NSW Bar Association

In July 1896 an association of barristers was formed in New South Wales to consider and report upon all matters of current legislation, enunciate and enforce rules of professional discipline, and to foster social and professional liaison amongst the members of the Bar. On 9 June 1902, the old association was dissolved and the Council of the Bar of New South Wales formed. On 22 October 1936 the New South Wales Bar Association was incorporated and the first meeting of the Council of the New South Wales Bar Association took place. The Memorandum and Articles of Association noted that the Bar Association would make suggestions on legislation, court rules, procedure and business. Over the years, both the judicial and executive branches of government sought the advice of the Bar Association regarding Bills and rules of court. The Association includes a number of standing committees and working parties, with a considerable number of barristers appointed as members of court liaison committees, government working parties and statutory authorities, providing their skills and expertise for the public benefit. Thirty four presidents and 104 Bar councils later, the Association has grown from strength to strength. In 1961, Bowen QC, then President of the Bar Association, commented: “The Bar as a community has entered upon a period unlike anything experienced before. We have not been afraid to speak out, if need be publicly, on matters of general concern on which the community might fairly look to the Bar as an experienced professional body for guidance”. The statement remains true today.

Presentation Sisters, Wagga Wagga Prize

Criteria
This prize is awarded to the male indigenous student with the highest GPA at the end of first year, enrolled in one the following programs (in order of preference): Social Sciences, Education, Medicine, Nursing and Law.

Donor
Presentation Sisters, Wagga Wagga

In the early 1870s, Father McAlroy was commissioned by Bishop Lanigan of Goulburn to recruit teaching nuns from Ireland for the schools in the Diocese of Goulburn, which then included Wagga Wagga. Five Sisters were chosen to bring Christian education to the children of the early settlers of Wagga Wagga. Mt Erin was opened in 1874. The work of the Presentation Sisters was largely in school education. Since the 1980s, the areas of ministry have changed and Sisters are now involved in rural ministry outreach services, ecology and working for the environment, Aboriginal reconciliation, family support and youth camps as well as a no interest loan scheme in Western Sydney, and support and care to the ageing members of the Congregation. All of these works are carried out within a commitment to justice for the Earth and those made poor.

RH Stillman Memorial Prize

Criteria
This prize is awarded to the most outstanding student currently enrolled in a combined Law degree.

Donor
The Estate of Reuben Herbert Stillman

When Reuben Herbert Stillman arrived in Australia in the early 1950s, the electrical engineer was virtually penniless. Having completed his schooling and apprenticeship in England, he went on to secure work, and spent most of his working life at Northern Rivers County Council in Grafton. He retired to Brisbane to complete his PhD in electrical engineering at the University of Queensland. Ron’s involvement in law started with preparing expert reports on electrical accidents. In Brisbane, he became involved in research in law and economics and, together with Professor Carolyn Sappideen, he published a book on negligence, risk and liability in the electricity supply industry. He moved to Sydney to complete his law degree and later, at UWS, his Master of Laws by thesis, on liability in the electrical supply industry. In retirement, Reuben also worked as a consultant and adjunct professor at UNSW, and researched and taught about risk assessment. Ron, the son of Russian refugees, was a prolific reader with a love of learning and scholarship – nurtured when he was evacuated from London to boarding school during the Blitz. He is survived by his son Robert and his wife Dr Margaret Mackisack. The RH Stillman Prize recognises the achievements of talented law students.

Stephen Stewart Memorial Prize

Criteria
This prize is awarded to the most outstanding performance in Family Law Mooting in the unit 200633 Family Law.

Donor
Stephen Stewart (1955-2009) was a practicing barrister in both Sydney City and Parramatta who specialised in Family Law. He grew up in Western Sydney and was the first in his family to attend University. Throughout his career he was often invited as a guest lecturer in law programs in New South Wales’ universities and took a keen interest in the development of students’ courtroom skills. Stephen believed that in the theatre of the courtroom effective advocacy for a client relies as much on arguing the merits of a case as delivering a convincing performance. The Stephen Stewart memorial prize continues his passion for supporting students to hone their capacities to apply legal knowledge within effective courtroom performance.

Whitlam Institute Prize

Criteria
This prize is awarded to the most outstanding student in 200802 Law and Public Policy.

Donor
The Whitlam Institute exists for all Australians who care about what matters in a fair Australia. The Institute bridges the historical legacy of Gough Whitlam’s years in public life and the contemporary relevance of the Whitlam Program to public discourse and policy.

Established by the University of Western Sydney in 2000, the Whitlam Institute’s permanent home is in the historic Female Orphan School on the Parramatta Campus. The Institute’s spirit is best captured in Mr Whitlam’s own words when signing the Deed of Gift:

The greatest contribution that I hope to bestow is inspiration. That the work and causes championed in my parliamentary career and the statesman service that followed, will provide the basis for ongoing research and advocacy from this university into the contemporary challenges that confront and can improve the quality of life for all Australians.... [December 2003]

The Whitlam Institute works as an advocate, educator, policy influencer and research institute. The Institute is home to the Whitlam Prime Ministerial Collection and the Whitlam Reading Room houses selected books and papers donated by Mr Whitlam. The collection provides on-line access to papers held both at the Institute and in the National Archives. The Institute maintains an active public education program.
