Academics and post graduate students interested in research on Peace and environment issues and social movements are invited to participate in a colloquium with our Eminent International visitor Professor David Meyer from the University of California Irvine.

The colloquium will be followed by invited individual presentations from PhD students and researchers and input from David.

David S. Meyer is Professor of Sociology, Political Science, and Planning, Policy, and Design. His general areas of interest include social movements, political sociology, and public policy, and he is most directly concerned with the relationships between social movements and the political contexts in which they emerge. He teaches courses on social movements, social problems, and sociological theory. He holds a Ph.D. in political science from Boston University, and a B.A. from Hampshire College, where he studied literature.

If you would like to do a presentation on your research with David, please send your topic summary to Genevieve Kelly, g.kelly@uws.edu.au by Wednesday 30th April.
